EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The following changes to the drawings have been approved by the examiner and agreed upon by applicant:

Figure 13 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated (see "description of related art" in applicant's disclosure, where applicant admits figure 13 as a conventional system). See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

In order to avoid abandonment of the application, applicant must make these above agreed upon drawing changes.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 12, has been cancelled.

Claim 13, has been amended as follows: ~~A storage medium in which the program according to claim 11 is stored so as to be readable by a computer.~~ "A computer readable medium storing a computer program, which when executed by a computer, causes the computer to perform the method of claim 11".

Authorization for the above examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Sivon Kalminov (Telephone: 949-932-3329) on September 27, 2007.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The invention is directed to an apparatus and method for an image-forming controller, which reads an image data containing the same tile (plurality of rectangular images), four times with a delay corresponding to a delay of image formation between image forming sections of the printer, and sequentially transferring the image data to four image forming sections corresponding to the predetermined color components (CMYK). Claims 1 and 11 identify the uniquely distinct features of "transferring means for reading identical rectangular image data predetermined multiple times...and for sequentially transferring the read identical rectangular image data to the rectangle-raster converting means...and outputting the pieces of raster image data to the corresponding image forming sections for the predetermined color components" (claims 1 & 9). The closest prior arts, Utsunomiya, US 2001/0033392, Kajiwara, US 2002/0061140, and Rijavec, US 2003/0090709 teach dividing the image data into tiles (rectangular image data), and converting an image's RGB color space (color components) into CMYK color space (predetermined color components) and generating respective plurality of pieces of rectangular image data for the predetermined color components; storing means for storing the plurality of converted rectangular image data; converting the generated plurality of pieces of rectangular image data into raster image data for the predetermined color components.

Either singularly or in combination with other cited references fails to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

The prior arts, Utsunomiya, US 2001/0033392, Kajiwara, US 2002/0061140, and Rijavec, US 2003/0090709 disclose transfer means for sequentially transferring the contents of each desired packet data (header and image data) or number of pieces of rectangular image data to the image processing sections, and then performing image processing on said data including converting the color space components (RGB) of the image data into predetermined color space components (CMYK), enhancing image quality and performing various other image processing techniques BUT does not disclose transferring the identical rectangular image data predetermined multiple times (which is interpreted by the examiner as transferring/reading the exact same data four times (predetermined multiple times)) and sequentially transferring the read identical rectangular image data to the rectangle-raster converting means, and outputting the pieces of raster image data to the corresponding image forming sections for the predetermined color components.

Suzuki et al., US 2003/0151759 discloses relevant subject matter of the present application but the filing date of Suzuki does not overcome the foreign priority date of present applicant (09/30/2002), and the examiner was not able to use the teachings disclosed by the Suzuki reference.

The meaning of the sentences "transferring means for reading identical rectangular image data predetermined multiple times...and for sequentially transferring the read identical rectangular image data to the rectangle-raster converting means...and outputting the pieces of raster image data to the corresponding image forming sections for the predetermined color components" is demonstrated by applicant's drawings (figures 8-11), and specification.

2. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
